To Whom It May Concern:

We were fortunate enough to have Mike come to Lynchburg College and present three different sessions which each had a powerful impact. He first met with a small group of faculty and staff members who had a personal or professional interest in sexual assault issues to discuss some useful skills in working with victims. He then met with a group of peer educators and offered words of advice and encouragement on creative ways to present student programs. His keynote presentation was open to all students, some of whom were peer educators, some athletes, some health promotion majors, and some just interested students. Regardless of who they were or why they were there, they left that night with a new perspective on communication expectations when it comes to dating and relationships. Mike has the ability to relate to students, regardless of their background, their gender, or their sexual orientation, in a way that allows each of them to identify with his important message.

Student feedback about Mike's presentation has been nothing but positive. Some of those comments include:

- "Thanks for bringing Mike Domitrz to campus! Can we have him come again next year?"
- "He was awesome!"
- "I went back to my dorm and told my roommates that they were crazy not to go because he was great -- and funny too!"
- "He did a great job with the topic; I had never thought about it like that before"

I have also included a supportive article that a student wrote (unsolicited) for our campus newspaper after seeing Mike's presentation.

Thank you for helping make the arrangements run so smoothly from the beginning. We look forward to working with you all again.

Sincerely,
