Dear Mike,

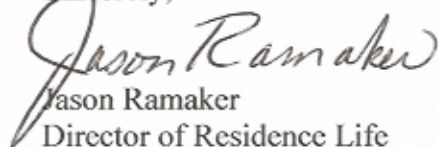

The students at Viterbo University (La Crosse, WI) were so impressed with your recent presentation, "Can I Kiss You," during our Valentines "Healthy Relations" Day. I had numerous students and staff members complement your high energy, charismatic and humorous approach and talk on dating relationships. The house was full and my colleagues in student life all believe you made quite an impact with our students in getting them to re-think how they will handle dating situations in the future.

Your exciting presentation gave us a venue to bring in several local hospitals and our newly formed Sexual Assault Awareness organization to present information and referral help to students after the program. Several campus counselors later commented to me how your presentation positively impacted their student clients in processing of their own experiences.

Thank you again for your outstanding and powerful words. It was refreshing that you were so friendly, flexible and easy to work with and even willing to stay after your program to meet with individual students and staff. I think one of our students summed up well our experience with you when immediately after the program she said to me, "When can we bring him back again!"

I still see your unique eye catching "Can I Kiss You" t-shirts around campus worn by our students which reminds me I need look at when we can bring you to our campus again sometime soon. Thanks again for "telling your story" and helping our young people make smart choices about their own lives.

Sincerely,
